Although recent months may have been agonizing for holiday planners, the pandemic cannot rob consumers of a celebratory remote holiday soirée. Today, it's all about the journey. More to my point, the spirit of modern times requires reassurance, solace and happiness.

Today, American consumers believe it is a great time to rediscover extraordinary brands who happen to be paying attention to fresh style and sustainability for modern needs. If you wish to be the select few to wear the ultimate accessory style, take a gander below at the winter lineup of extraordinary pieces this holiday season!

Aranyani:

Aranyani- Aranyani's vibrant red velvet clutch is the only bag you need this holiday season. Dress it up or down, and you're good to go wherever the season takes you. Offset with glittering honey quartz stones, believed to heighten feelings of confidence and courage, this bag will bring some much-needed, positive energy to the 2020 holidays. The clutch's sleek lines and jeweled rim are a homage to the architecture of India's ancient palaces. What could be more festive than having some positive energy with you this holiday season? $1,050
